P- I'm thinking that Jack will become August's friend because he tried to give August advice on the tour. On pg. 30 the text stated, "Julian's a jerk," he whispered. "But dude, you're gonna have to talk." He said this like he was seriously trying to help me."

I wrote this post-it because I think that it was really nice of Jack to stick up for August when Julian was being rude. It really shows that Jack is a helpful character because he was trying to make August feel better. For example, On page 30 the text stated, "Julian's a jerk," he whispered. "But dude, you're gonna have to talk." He said this like he was seriously trying to help me." This is important because... August could really use a good friend to be by his side when starting school for the first time. I'm thinking... that Jack will continue to stick up for August throughout the school year when August faces more struggles.
